Limited Liability

RideChina is not liable for any bodily injury or property damage as a result of (but not limited to): physical exertion for which a guest is not prepared; forces of nature; travel by motorcycle, or other form of active or adventure travel; consumption of alcoholic beverages; civil unrest; terrorism; breakdown of equipment; high altitude; lack of or limited access to medical attention in remote locations; the adequacy of medical attention once provided, speeding, parking tickets, or road tolls, or any other circumstances beyond its control. Nor shall RideChina be responsible or liable for delay, loss, damage or injury to person or property and illness incurred during their stay in connection with or relating to the supply or omission of air, sea, land transportation services, or of accommodation, meals, facilities, entertainment or other services provided by RideChina. RideChina reserves the right to make route and hotel modifications as necessary to improve the trip quality or to accommodate the comfort and well-being of guests. Guests grant RideChina express permission to take photographs or make film records of its trips for promotional and commercial use, as well as approve such use by third parties with whom Ride China may engage in joint marketing, without financial remuneration.

Insurance

All expeditions (on your own motorcycles) and tours (renting RideChina motorcycles) include third party motorcycle insurance covering the third party's damage on a limited fund of 300USD. Due to the law and the nature of motorcycle trips in China and the remoteness of our destinations, insurance is highly recommended. While RideChina will attempt to secure the hospitals' services in case of an emergency, we cannot guarantee the same standard you have at home, and assume no liability regarding provision of medical care. We strongly urge each tour member to purchase travel insurance that covers a range of adventure activities such as motorcycling and to cover themselves for trip cancellation and medical evacuation. I understand and agree to all the conditions as stated in the above paragraphs.
